INTRODUCTION.

THIS souvenir, dedicated to the citizens of North Haven, was undreamed of thirty days ago. Its suggestion came all unexpected but with an assurance of success that seemed almost prophetic. The story of the monument would not be complete without the pictures of the men in whose memory it was erected. The search for material began at once. Daguerrotypes, ambrotypes, tintypes, photo cards were resurrected, in many cases from a forty years' sleep, and made to reproduce themselves here. These plates, soiled and marred as are many, are priceless and their appearance is above all criticism. The only regret is that the muster roll is not more complete. It is possible a few pictures exist not shown here. Some were never taken, and some are irretrievably lost. One or two were withheld by the indifference of relatives. The thanks of the committee are due to The Stoddard-Brown Engraving Co. of New Haven and to The New Haven Printing Co. for their careful execution and haste in placing this souvenir before the public.

HISTORY OF THE MONUMENT.

The erection of a Soldiers' Monument in North Haven began to be agitated in 1884. At that time a project to observe the one hundredth anniversary of the incorporation of the town due in the autumn of 1886, was under consideration, and it was thought that a special recognition of the services of those who fought in the MEMORIAL HALL.

Civil War besides serving to perpetuate their memory, would add honor to that occasion.

This idea commended itself generally and the Veteran Soldiers volunteered to take up the work. The town voted the statute allowance of a mill and a half on the Grand List to aid the enterprise and the estate of Captain Henry H. Stiles added five hundred dollars to the fund. Other subscriptions came in liberally until the sum of three thousand dollars was in sight. This was sufficient to insure the success of the enterprise. Plans were submitted and a design partially agreed upon.

But objection arose to embarrass this work. It was asserted that a Memorial Hall would better serve the end in view than a monument, and a building for town purposes being greatly needed, a majority at a special town meeting rescinded the former vote and ordered a public building in its place. The main funds being thus diverted the original plan was obliged to be abandoned.

Even the change might have proved acceptable in part to the veterans and their friends had the building been so designed as to distinctly set forth its purpose to honor those who had fought for the Union, but as it was, the memorials provided were of the most superficial nature.

A single marble tablet six feet three inches by three feet set in the vestibule on the second floor contains the following names.

Upon the completion of the hall most of the subscriptions for the monument were withdrawn. A small amount was paid in however and it was resolved by the veterans that this offering should not be diverted from its original purpose but kept as leaven for a second attempt when in the providence of God such a time seemed favorable.

So the veterans went on burying their dead year by year, calmly awaiting the hour when their pledges to their fallen comrades might be fulfilled. What a long wait it was! Goodyear, Phelps, Tuttle, Smith, Linsley, Cooper, Palmer, Stiles, Hartley, Tucker, Brockett, "died without the sight" and went over to "The bivouac of the dead." Now and then a town in the state awakened by some patriotic incident or perhaps by the generosity of a large hearted citizen would arouse itself to make amends to the memories of the youth of 1861. Thus slowly through the land, testimonies to patriotism arose until well nigh each village green in Connecticut had some symbol that pointed to the men who kept up the honor of the old commonwealth in its hour of danger.

At the opening of the year 1905, —forty years after the return of the armies,—of the hundred and more volunteers who were either born in the town of, or at some period resided in it, scarcely a remnant remained.

But remnants sometimes show unlooked for vitality. The march of events brought the Spanish war of 1898. The citizens of New Haven becoming alarmed at the defenseless condition of their city, caused a battery of four 10-inch Rodman guns to be mounted at the eastern entrance of the harbor at "Lighthouse Point." This fortification made old veterans smile, but as it served to quiet the fears of the women and children in the city it doubtless served a good purpose. As a means of defense it was absolutely worthless.

Here the guns remained for sometime after the war ended until removed by the government to the high ground near the old light-house.

In the fall of 1904 it was conceived that possibly the U. S. Government would donate one of these pieces for a Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument. The War Department was consulted through the intervention of the Hon. N. D. Sperry with the following result.

SUBJECT: TRANSFER OF 10-INCH RODMAN GUN.

20 2382.

ENGINEER OFFICE, UNITED STATES ARMY,

NEW LONDON, CONN., DEC. 30, 1904.

MR. SHELDON B. THORPE,
North Haven, Conn.

Sir :—

I have the honor to inform you that I have been instructed by the War Department to turn over to you or on your order, for the Town of North Haven, Conn., one of the 10-inch S. B. Rodman guns now at the Light-House Reservation at New Haven, Conn., and I have directed Supt. G. E. Verrill at New Haven to deliver to you or the Selectmen of North Haven the southerly gun at the Reservation and advise him that you would indicate the date on which you would remove the piece. I would thank you to advise me likewise in the matter.

It must be understood and agreed by you that this transfer is to be made without expense to the United States in any way whatsoever. The law specifically states that the United States is to be at no expense in connection with this loan or gift, and does not authorize a carriage to be supplied with the gun. Please acknowledge the understanding and agreement.

Very respectfully yours,

CHAS. F. POWELL.

Lieut. Col., Corps of Engineers.

Upon the receipt of this letter it did not take long to determine what to do. Arrangements were made for the immediate transportation of the ordinance to North Haven Green and it was laid down there February 15th of the present year. Fortunately snow covered the ground and it was drawn in a heavy sled by six horses of The I. L. Stiles & Son Brick Co. driven by Patrick Halligan. The weight of the piece was ten tons.

Thus the initial step was taken towards the Civil War memorial. It was uncertain how the public would receive it, but the design for a pedestal was drawn, photographed and the following circular issued.

TO THE PUBLIC.

It is now forty years since the close of the Civil War ! More than one hundred young men of the Town of North Haven engaged in that mighty struggle ! Many died while the conflict was raging—many more have since joined their comrades—there is but a remnant left !

CITIZENS.

The opportunity is at hand—after years of waiting—to express in more complete form than now exists, some appreciation of the sacrifice and heroism of your townsmen who enlisted in the armies of the North.

To accomplish this, the Veteran Soldiers Association propose the construction of a Memorial upon the Public Green, which shall express to all time the loyalty of the town to its defenders of the Union.

This Memorial to be of granite and iron. The cannon is the donation of the War Department of the United States. Its weight is about 10 tons, length about 12 feet, muzzle diameter 16 inches, height from foundation, about 12 feet, pedestal of granite in 12 blocks. The west face will bear this inscription :

ERECTED by the Town of NORTH HAVEN
as a tribute to the valor of her sons
who on land and sea fought in the
CIVIL WAR
To preserve the UNION

Upon the east face the names of battles will appear. The estimated cost of this Memorial ready for dedication is between eight hundred and nine hundred dollars, to be raised by popular subscription that every person in the town may share in its interest and erection.

Your pledges should be generous and immediate, as no work will be undertaken until its cost is provided for. It is hoped the corner stone may be laid Memorial Day, May 30th, and the dedication follow during the summer.

THE VETERAN SOLDIERS' ASSOCIATION,

SHELDON B. THORPE, Chairman.

DR. ROBERT B. GOODYEAR, Secretary,

ALBERT A. HYDE, Treasurer.

NORTH HAVEN, CONN.

APRIL 12TH, 1905.

Within forty-eight hours from the issue of the appeal it was found no mistake had been made. Subscriptions liberal beyond expectation came pouring in. Day had dawned and the hopes of all were jubilant. The town, conservative to the last degree, seemed certain now to swing into line with her sisters in doing honor to her sons who "wore the Blue."

The removal of the cannon from the government reservation in time came to the notice of the Department of Parks in the city of New Haven. It had been proposed that the city should secure the entire battery for ornamental purposes, but as definite action had been delayed one piece was lost to them. They immediately set about selecting the remaining ones which were readily granted by the government.

The provisions of the War Department which allow the donation to towns and Grand Army Posts of certain obsolete war materials, does not include the carriages on which the guns are mounted. Why such a ruling prevails the writer does not know, but a carriage could not be had unless bid for at an advertised sale by the government. To this and upon request the department issued the following notice.

ADVERTISEMENT.

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF OF ORDNANCE, U. S. ARMY,

Washington, March 14, 1905.

Sealed proposals, in duplicate, subject to the usual conditions, will be received at this office until 3 o'clock p. m. on Friday, April 14, 1905, for the purchase of condemned stores, near New Haven, Conn.

Catalogues giving quantities, conditions, etc., can be had on application to the CHIEF OF ORDNANCE, U. S. ARMY.

CATALOGUE.

The stores are in good condition but obsolete.

All stores purchased will be required to be paid for and removed within sixty days from the date of the award.

The government reserves the right to waive informalities and to reject any bid not deemed satisfactory.

The carriages are on a bank about 12 feet above and 60 feet distant from low water of New Haven Harbor, and where mean rise of tide is nearly 6 feet, and can be readily removed by means of a scow or similar vessel, with or without derrick. Carriage by land to New Haven means a haul of 4 or 5 miles over a wagon road.

The successful bidder will not be permitted to break up any of the carriages by the use of explosives.

Proposals must be addressed to the Chief of Ordnance, U. S. Army, Washington, D. C., and marked "Proposals for the purchase of condemned stores near New Haven, Conn."

WILLIAM CROZIER,
Brig. Gen., Chief of Ordnance.

It was agreed with Supt. Blake of the New Haven Parks that he should bid for both lots as per catalogue and that the sum of thirty dollars each for the four carriages be offered. When the bids were opened the award came to Connecticut, the sums paid being a little in excess of the value of old iron. Reference to the plate (page 12) shows two sections of the carriage, but as only the top was needed, the lower frame was sold to a junk dealer.

The next thing to be secured was a parcel of "dead shell" suitable to the calibre of the gun. Application was therefore made the third time to the War Department and the following response received.

SUBJECT: SHIPMENT OF 20, 10 INCH SHELL.

Mr. Sheldon B. Thorpe,
Chairman Memorial Building Committee,
North Haven, Conn.

Sir:

I have the honor to state that in obedience to instruction of the Chief of Ordnance, U. S. Army, I have this day shipped to your address by the N. Y. C. & H. R. R. & N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R. to North Haven, Conn.

20 Cast-iron shell, unattached, for 10 inch Columbian or Rodman gun.

As the issue is made without expense to the United States on account of freight, the charges, including cartage from this Arsenal to the N. Y. C. & H. R. Depot, Troy, N. Y., are to be paid by you.

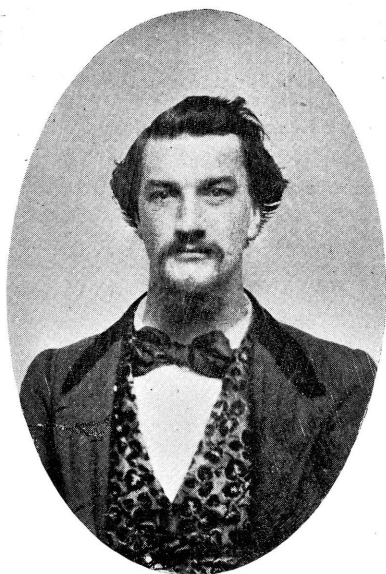

Upon their arrival please acknowledge receipt.

Respectfully,

foundation of a patriotism of greater value than all the soldier's memorials that ever stood in the world from the plains of Marathon to the hills of Gettysburg.

The finances of the monument being assured, work on the foundation began in May and was soon completed. The base is eleven feet long, five feet wide and six feet deep. It contains brick and Portland cement laid in the most substantial manner under the direction of Charles N. Davis, foreman of the mechanical department of The Stiles Brick Co. Provision was made in it for the deposit of a "corner stone box." This article was of heavy sheet copper, 10 inches by 8 inches by 6 inches, the work of and gift of Mr. George Leete.

Meanwhile the sum of the pledges for the monument was steadily increasing. Many declared it a pleasure to aid so worthy an object. Only a few found it inconvenient to remember "the days that tried men's souls." The pupils of the public schools, seconded by their teachers took up the matter with great spirit. They sold soaps, they picked berries, they ran errands, they solicited work, they denied themselves privileges, they made sacrifices, that they might have share in honoring the men who fought to maintain the best government under the whole heaven, and in this, all unconsciously rose to a high level and laid the districts was called a pupil came forward bearing a small packet of cards each containing the autograph of child and the amount of donation. The large majority of these names were so handsomely written as to excite the admiration of all who saw them. These packages being deposited, there was then laid in a remnant of the large thirty foot flag of 1861 (still in existence) and the box was tightly soldered by Arthur B. Thorpe. It was then lowered into the center of the foundation and a cap of granite bearing the letters G. A. R. placed upon the top. The whole was then cemented in against all possible removal except by demolition of the substructure. The installation was completed by the laying of a simple wreath of laurel on the base by Esther Shepherd, a granddaughter of the late Lieutenant Solomon F. Linsley. The veterans at the word of command "saluted the dead," the Rev. F. R. Doane of the Congregational church offered prayer, the audience sung America. Taps was blown from a distant bugle and the first act in the heroic drama was over.

The ceremonies connected with the deposition of this box took place on Memorial Day, May 30th, 1905. There was a larger number present than usual, and when the procession returned from the decoration of graves in the cemetery it assembled about the site of the monument. Dr. R. B. Goodyear opened the exercises with a brief allusion to the occasion. The large flag (previously lowered) was raised to the peak and saluted in the prescribed manner by the school children in concert. Mr. S. B. Thorpe then produced the memorial box explaining its purpose and giving a list of the articles placed within it as follows :

THE MONUMENT.

The pedestal of the monument was designed by a North Haven veteran. Its detail consists of only nine pieces of granite as follows :

B. Base,	10 feet 6 inches x 4 feet 8 inches x 1 foot 4 inches.
Cap,	6 feet 10 inches x 4 feet x 1 foot.
Die,	2 feet 6 inches x 3 feet 4 inches x 3 feet.
One stone,	2 feet 7½ inches x 3 feet 8 inches x 1 foot.
“ “	2 feet 5 inches x 3 feet 8 inches x 1 foot.
“ “	2 feet 2½ inches x 3 feet 8 inches x 1 foot
“ “	2 feet x 3 feet 8 inches x 1 foot.
“ “	2 feet 10 inches x 3 feet 8 inches x 1 foot.
“ “	3 feet 10 inches x 3 feet 8 inches x 1 foot.

The specifications required that the stock be of light Quincy granite, the die to be of dark shade, all of the best quality. Six concerns entered into competition for the work and submitted sealed bids.

Fox, Becker Granite Co., Middletown,	$480 00
The Maslen Co., Hartford,	533 00
Thomas Phillips & Son Co., New Haven,	575 00
Oneco Granite Co.,	521 00
George W. Okell, agent,	454 00
S. W. Lucas, agent,	465 00

After careful consideration the contract was awarded to Mr. S. W. Lucas, agent of the quarry at Quincy, Mass.

Although the latter's bid was not the lowest the executive committee felt warranted in placing the work as they did. The contract was signed June 21st, the granite to be delivered on or about August 25th. An additional stone, 4 x 4 x 1 was later added to support the twenty shells donated by the government. The marble base on which the heavy iron vase stands was the donation of Mrs. Alice Lord Painter in memory of her father, and is a relic of the old State House on New Haven green.

Though several sites for the memorial were suggested none seemed so appropriate as the Public Green. Objections to this was made, however, because of the claims of the First Ecclesiastical

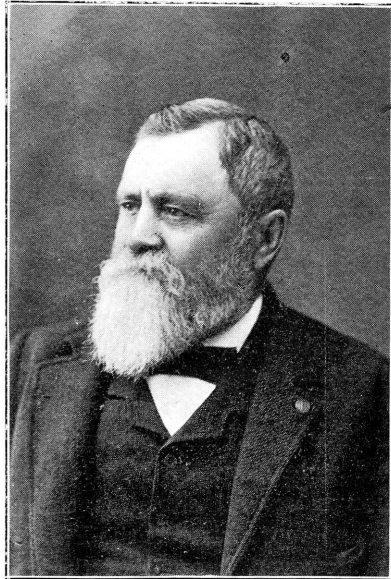

ELI I. BROCKETT,
15th Conn. Infantry.

When the present movement began the matter of a site came up again. It was thought that a long lease to the town of a plot on the Park would solve all difficulties. The Society refused to do this but reaffirmed the vote of 1886 at its annual meeting in March, 1905.

The work of filling and grading the grounds was done by Mr. Lawrence Bruce. The granite arrived on contract time and was set up by Charles N. Davis of The Stiles Brick Co., Sept. 6-7-8. The weight of the pedestal is sixteen tons, the carriage two tons, and the gun ten tons. The whole structure is as solid as though quarried from a single piece. All interior joints are closed

Society to the ownership of this tract, but this was overcome eventually by the consideration that the claim was hardly more than nominal and that the Society, according to the deed of gift could not dispose of the property if it wanted to. Accordingly during the agitation previously referred to the Ecclesiastical Society passed the following resolutions at its annual meeting March 29, 1886 :

Resolved : That this Society grant the Veteran Soldiers' Association of this town and others liberty to erect a monument to the memory of the deceased soldiers and sailors of the wars of the United States, at or near the centre of Pierpont Park (the Green), as they may think desirable.

firmly with cement and there does not seem to be a place where decay can ever get a foothold. This idea of ruggedness and solidity seemed to the building committee emblematic of the desperate struggle (not yet understood) of 1861-1865. It appeared to them that the symbol set up should not be (like many in robes and wings) to an "unknown God," but to country!—our country! loved country!

"What were our lives without thee!
What all our lives to save thee!"

The memorial completed, plans for its dedication were considered and the following appointments made :

ALBERT N. VIBBERT,
7th Vermont Infantry.

Lieut. J. Richard North, Chief Marshal.

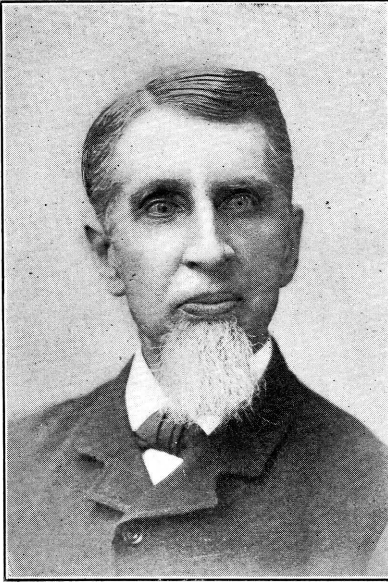

Isaac L. Doolittle, Chairman Committee on Decoration of Memorial Hall.

Ezra G. Munson, Chairman Committee on Decoration of Congregational Church.

John F. Reynolds, Chairman Committee on Entertainment.

Arthur B. Thorpe, Chairman Committee on Salutes.

The following names of battles in which most of the veterans were engaged appears on the east face of the memorial :

EDWARD L. GOODYEAR,
10th Conn. Infantry.

Commander A. A. May of Connecticut Department, G. A. R., and his staff was present to dedicate the structure according to the ritual of the order. After music by the band, Dr. R. B. Goodyear presented the memorial to the department officers as follows :

Worthy Commander :

In behalf of the citizens of this town and others who have contributed to this testimonial of gratitude to those who imperilled their lives in the defense of their country, and who form an honorable part of the Grand Army which you represent, I have the honor to present to you this memorial for dedication.

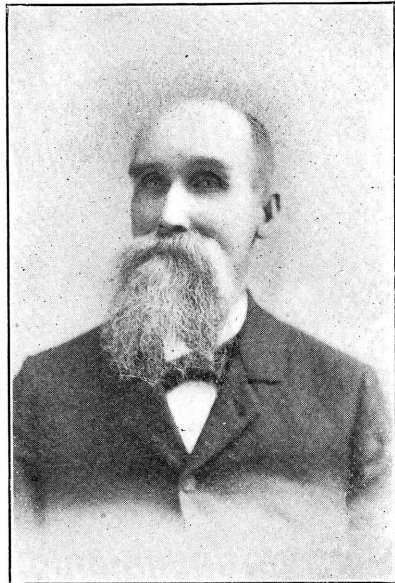

Of its fitness I need not speak. Itself is its own exemplar. It tells the story of battles fought and victories won. Standing beneath the shadow of that flag as a safe

Before its terrible blasts navies melt away, fortresses crumble, armies are vanquished, mobs are dispersed and peace and order are restored.

In all this fury and tumult and madness it is the men behind the guns who dare and do and die for the love of duty. It is to such men we give this token of gratitude :

COMMANDER MAY SAID

Mr. Chairman and Comrades:

In the name of my comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic, representing as they do all soldiers and sailors who defended the integrity and authority of the nation, I thank you and those whom you represent for the privilege of dedicating this memorial. Its very silence is impressive. Without articulate speech, it is eloquent. It needs no words. It is itself an oration. It assures us that our dead are held in remembrance—those dead who gave their lives for the security of the citizen and the union of the States. It is significant of brave and loyal obedience to the command of the nation always and everywhere, since the obligations of citizenship are not restricted to time or place, or to the conflict of arms. It gives encouragement for the future, loyalty and patriotism which responded to the signal calls on yonder hilltops in the days of '76 and led our armies to victory in '65.

At the close of this the monument was unveiled by Miss Marcia, daughter of Arthur B. and Mabel Howarth Thorpe, who enjoys the rare distinction of having had both grandfathers in the Civil War. Immediately upon the unveiling, cannons boomed, the militia presented arms, the Grand Army saluted, the children cheered, bells were rung and general pandemonium reigned. When quiet was restored the ceremony of dedication began.

since the recognition and approval it gives patriotic fidelity and heroism will be an incentive for the display of public valor and virtue in all coming time.

There can be no doubt that the honor you pay to the patriotic dead, and to their memorable deeds, will serve not only to make American citizenship in these days more reputable, but also to maintain and perpetuate, through the future generations, the union and authority of the United States of America. Adjutant, you will detail a guard of honor.

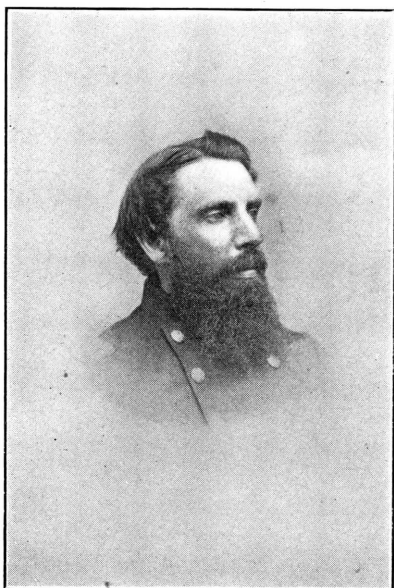

Officer of the Day, you will direct the Officer of the Guard to station this detail near this memorial.

COMMANDER.—The Chaplain will now offer the prayer of dedication.

CHAPLAIN.—Almighty God! we thank Thee for Thy sovereign care and protection, in that Thou didst lead us in the days that were shadowed with trouble, and gavest us strength when the burden was heavy upon us, and gavest us courage and guidance, so that after the conflict we have come to these days of peace. We thank Thee that the wrath of war has been stilled, that brother no longer strives against brother, that once again we have one country and one flag.

May Thy blessing be upon us as a people, that we may be Thy people, true and righteous in all our ways, tender and patient in our charity, though resolute for the right; careful more for the down-trodden than for ourselves, eager to forward the interest of every citizen throughout the land, so that our country may be indeed one country from the rivers to the seas, from the mountains to the plains.

We pray Thee to make our memories steadfast, that we may never forget the generous sacrifices made for our country. May our dead be enshrined in our hearts. May their graves be the altar of our grateful and reverential patriotism.

NATHAN H. MARKS,
15th Conn. Infantry.

for the honor of civil life, for the advancement of the nation, for the blessing of humanity, and for the furtherance of Thy holy kingdom.

Hear us, O our God ! we ask it in the name of Him who made proof of the dignity, and who consecrated the power of sacrifice in His blessed life and death, even in the name of Jesus Christ, the great Captain of our salvation. Amen !

COMMANDER.—Attention ! In the name of the Grand Army of the Republic, I now dedicate this memorial. I dedicate it to the memory of those who in the navy guarded our inland seas and ocean coasts, and fell in defense of the flag. I dedicate it to the memory of those who in the army fought for our hill-sides and valleys and plains, and fell in defence of the flag. I dedicate it to the memory of those who on land and on sea fought for the Union and fell in defence of the flag ; who on land

And now, O God ! bless Thou this memorial.

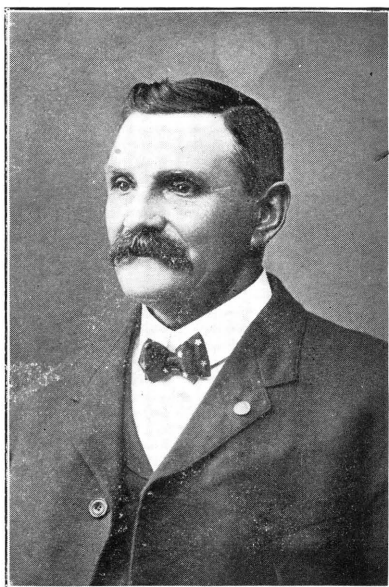

Bless it, O God ! in honor of mothers who bade their sons do brave deeds :

In honor of wives who wept for husbands who should never come back again :

In honor of children whose heritage is their fallen father's heroic name :

In honor of men and women who ministered to the hurt and dying :

But chiefly, O God ! in honor of men who counted not their lives dear when their country needed them ; of those alike who sleep beside the dust of their kindred or under the salt sea, or in nameless graves, where only Thine angels stand sentinels till reveille of the resurrection morning. Protect it and let it endure, and unto the latest generation may its influence be for the education of the citizen,

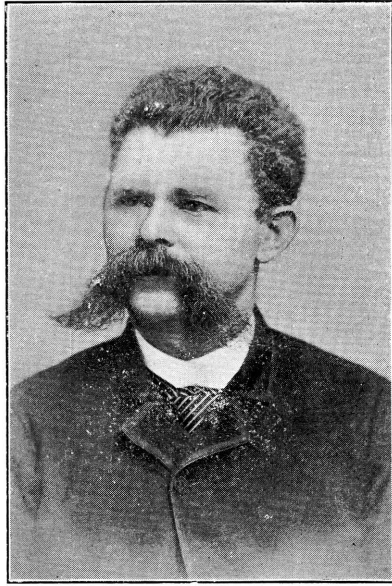

WILLIAM E. BROCKETT,
15th Conn. Infantry.

and on sea fought for the authority of the Constitution, and fell in defence of the flag, who on land and on sea fought for their country and fell in the defence of the flag.

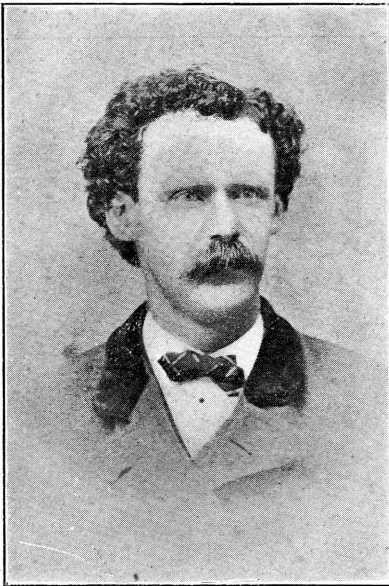

Mr. Chairman our service of dedication is ended. In the name of my comrades I thank you, and those you represent, for your courtesy in permitting us, who are bound by special ties to them, to honor our dead.

CHAIRMAN.—Commander our exercises are ended.

COMMANDER.—Attention! As we close these services, the guard of honor is withdrawn, the symbols of the army and navy are removed, the flag is lowered; but the memorial we have dedicated remains, guarded by our dead. So long as it shall endure, it shall speak to us and to all of the loyalty and heroism in the army and navy, and of that significant national authority of which our flag is the symbol to every true American heart.

Officer of the Day, remove the symbols. Lower the flag. Dismiss the guard.

Chaplain, pronounce the benediction.

CHAPLAIN.—The grace of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Spirit be with us all. Amen!

This service so beautiful in conception was the most impressive scene ever witnessed in the town. The monument stands upon the exact site of the old Congregational Church. On the east are the historic oaks of the Green, and the house of the noted divine and historian Dr.

CHARLES W. JACOBS,
1st Conn. Heavy Artillery.

Benjamin Trumbull. On the north is the old cemetery where sleep the founders of the town and they that did service in the French and Indian wars, and in the Revolutionary struggle, ancestors who bequeathed to the lads of the Civil War that spirit of sacrifice and patriotism which carried them from Bull Run to Appomattox. On the south President Ezra Stiles of Yale College was born, and the old well from which he often drank still refreshes all who visit it. What an ideal situation for a Memorial.

SERVICES IN THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

The assemblage then entered the Congregational Church for the dedication address. The church was finely decorated for the occasion by Mr. and Mrs. Ezra G. Munson and assistants.

Gen. E. D. S. Goodyear was presiding officer.

After music by the band, Mr. Sheldon B. Thorpe, on behalf of his comrades, presented the monument to Hon. D. Walter Patten, first selectman, as the representative of the town. He said :

Mr. Patten :

I find myself at this time detailed to the rather singular duty of tendering you as the representative of the town, a gift already your own. By the courtesy of the War Department of the United States, and by the generosity of our people, it has been made possible to erect in yonder public place a memorial to the soldiers and sailors of the Civil War. This memorial is not the award of an individual or an organization, but an expression of the will of the people, by the people, and the people already possess it.

So it is not that inanimate mass of granite and iron which I am commissioned to present at this hour, but rather what that iron and granite stands for! And what it stands for more than anything else is the immortal fact that when forty and more years ago Abraham Lincoln called the muster rolls of those willing to die for their country, a hundred boys of this old town stepped to the front and answered "Here."

Some of those boys are here to-day, but more have passed beyond us, and it is memory of those, and those who shall follow, that yonder pile has been raised, When a great man dies, another rises to succeed him—when a wise man or a rich man their Country—our Country—an undivided Country—a saved Country—made so in part by men of North Haven who fought for it!—loyalty in their hearts, and lead in their cartridge boxes.

It is committed to your care as the most precious thing next to our lives that we can give you. God grant that neither you nor your successors fail to guard the sacred trust this day placed in your keeping. I offer you the right hand in thankfulness and the left hand in congratulation that this hour has been reached.

ACCEPTANCE OF THE MONUMENT.

Mr. Patten responded as follows :

Mr. Thorpe :

Nearly half a century has passed since the Civil War, the cause and passes away another takes his place—when a President lays down his life another is elected—the law of succession operates, and the world moves on but neither greatness, or riches or learning can fill the gap in the ranks when a veteran of the Civil War goes to his final rest. You cannot make a soldier of the Union by vote of a people or decree of authority. His place remains forever unsupplied, but his deeds shall be spoken of as a memorial so long as the words of the Master shall stand, “Greater love hath no man than this, That a man lay down his life for his friends.”

Sir ! In recognition of the truth of this divine message we are here to-day. It is not to mourn for the lost, for they who defend a nation's honor are never lost, but to commemorate the love they bore result of which are fresh in the mind of every patriotic citizen to-day, and no pages in the history of our country are brighter than those which record the bravery and the patriotism of those Union soldiers and sailors whom we to-day honor, and for whom you have erected a lasting memorial.

ADOLPHUS F. HUNIE,
15th Conn. Infantry.

From one end of our nation to the other have been erected memorials to officer and private upon battlefield and park, and the one which I am honored to accept to-day on behalf of this town is but an added link to that already long chain. Nor is this your first effort in this direction, for in yonder Memorial Hall is a tablet erected to the memory of those who offered their lives for their country, but the memorial which you present us to-day is one which the stranger or passer-by will not need to approach in order to learn its mission, but is one the very sight of which conveys to the mind the cost of the liberty which we enjoy to-day.

JAMES ELTON SMITH,
7th Conn. Infantry.
(Wounded Deep Run, Va.)

JACOB F. LINSLEY,
15th Conn. Infantry.

Certainly no more appropriate emblem could well be devised than the placing of this memorial under their Old Glory, the Stars and Stripes, the pride of our nation.

DEDICATION ADDRESS

by

WILLIAM F. HILTON,
Chaplain G. A. R.

Department of Connecticut.

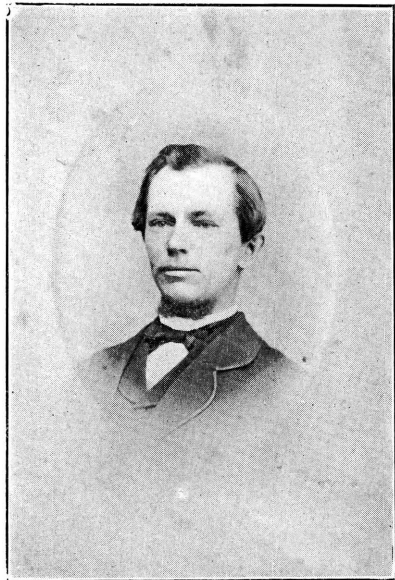

[Chaplain Hilton was five and a half years in service. His first enlistment was in the 23rd Pa., in July, 1861. In 1865 entered the 192nd Pa. Detailed at headquarters of Generals McClellan, Burnside, Hooker, Mead, Ord, Sickles and Patterson. Under the inspiration of the hour it was almost impossible to follow his impassioned delivery, so rapidly his words followed his emotions. The following is but a partial synopsis of what he said.]

EDGAR S. BRADLEY,
15th Conn. Infantry.

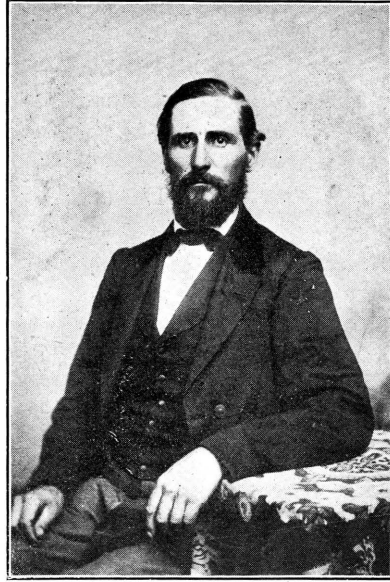

is wrapt up in that plain word "Volunteer." The voice of God is the voice of duty and when He said, "Whom shall I send," then came the volunteer with his earnest, trustful answer, "Here am I Lord, send me," and in faith like one of old he went out not knowing where or to what, but in the furnace of his trials his knowledge became luminous, and though loving not his life unto death, laying it down upon altars which sacrifice built on Cedar Mountain where Jos. O. Blair gave himself for his country, or at Peach Tree, Pocotaligo, Kinston, where F. G. Eaton, Harvey Hoadley, Lieut. E. W. Bishop and other sons of battle fell, still that for which they gave themselves has come forth from its fire, purified and clarified and there is revealed to the stranger in our midst the sterling truth that righteousness exalts the nation.

This monument is a memorial, an object lesson and a voice of inspiration, is raised by patriotic hands, crowded with hallowed memories and is baptized with the spirit of loving comradeship. It records heroic deeds of Connecticut's sons and embraces within its tribute the sons of other states whose loyalty was of that same stream which gave life to the nation. It stands before the public gaze as a reminder to the living generations that duty's call to them is as earnest and as urgent as it was to them whose service it commemorates. It recalls the bivouac and battlefield, the hospital and prison pen and brings to life again our boys. It calls the roll and among the first to answer will be heard the voices of Leverett M. Rogers, Walstein Goodyear and others sprang cheerfully to first call for volunteers. What a title, what a name, what a honor

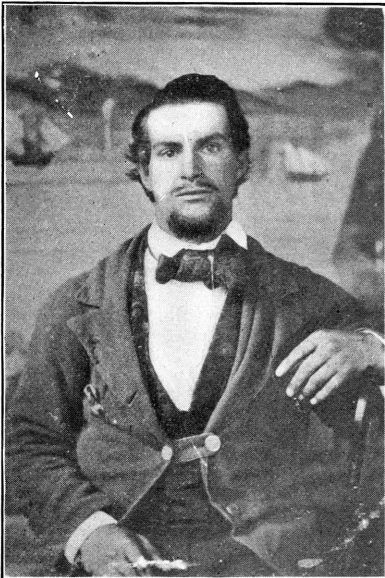

GEORGE W. SMITH,
15th Conn. Infantry.

But not alone to the dead is all the honor, for they sleep their last sleep, they have fought their last battle, no sound upon earth shall wake them again, but the living in their suffering have a voice to be heard and the prison pen with its groan furnishes a most eloquent note in the great song of praise. What memories come up with the mention of Libby Prison, Andersonville, Belle Isle, and our own Lieut. S. F. Linsley or Henry F. Cowles stand before us to urge the present generation to be willing equally to suffer for as to die for this glorious land. Greater than the individual is his town ; greater than the town is the state, greater than the state is the nation. This memorial, then, speaks to the individual, honors the town, exalts the state and glorifies the nation, and to one and all asks the question :

HENRY D. TODD,
27th Conn. Infantry.

Breathes there the man with soul so dead
Who never to himself hath said
This is my own, my native land !
Whose heart hath ne'er within
him burned,
As home his footsteps he hath turned
From waudering on a foreign strand.

HORACE RIGGS,
1st Conn. Heavy Artillery.

THE PARADE.

The parade by all odds was the finest ever seen in the town. It was formed by Lieutenant J. Richard North and aides as follows :

LIEUTENANT J. RICHARD NORTH, Marshal.

AIDES.

Chief of Staff—DR. G. S. HIGGINS.

Quartermaster—HARRY W. HITCHCOCK.

WILLIAM M. SEXTON,	ARTHUR B. THORPE,
HENRY CORF,	HARRY MORSE.
THEOPHILUS EATON,	RICHARD PIERPONT,

FIRST DIVISION.

2nd Infantry Band, C. N. G.

2nd Infantry, C. N. G.—Col. T. H. Sucher and Staff Commanding.

SECOND DIVISION.

Boys of the Public Schools.

THIRD DIVISION.

Band.

Italian Societies.

FOURTH DIVISION.

THE GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC.

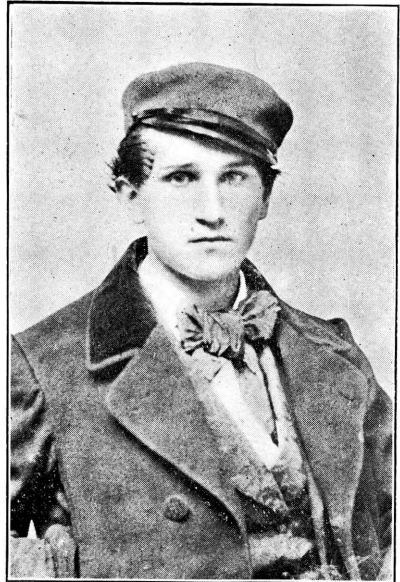

John M. Crowe and Staff Commanding.

FIFTH DIVISION.

Troop A.

MILTON P. PARDEE,
15th Conn. Infantry.

HOBART A. BASSETT,
15th Conn. Infantry.

The 2nd Infantry was formed on Broadway, right on railroad.

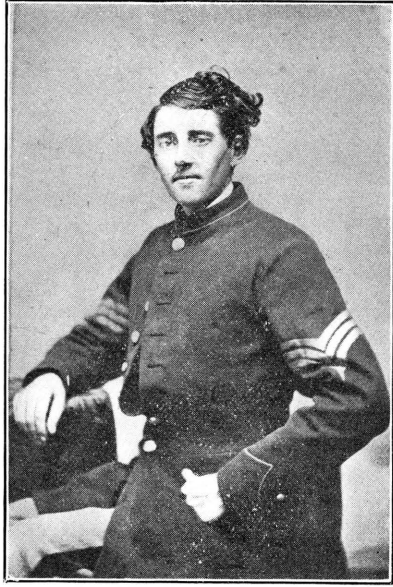

The Public Schools on F. H. Stiles' lawn.

Troop A on Blakeslee avenue, right on Broadway.

ROUTE—Broadway to State, to Broadway, to Washington avenue (counter march from "Big Elm"), to south end of Green, to Monument. The 2nd Infantry took position on north and west sides of square, the Italian Societies on the east side and the Grand Army and Troop A on the south side.

LIEUT. F. WILBUR GOODYEAR.
7th Conn. Infantry.
(In Andersonville.)

CAPT. WALTER P. HOVEY.
10th Conn. Infantry.

The line of march was an ovation from start to finish—every house was decorated with bunting and flags, many lavishly and in excellent taste. A large area had been reserved about the monument and the procession fell into its assigned place without loss of time. The unveiling ceremonies moved promptly and were impressive to a degree.

THE LUNCH.

Lunch for the military organizations, guests, etc., was laid in Memorial Hall, under the supervision of John F. Reynolds and assistants. It was admirably served,

CAPT. EDWIN A. THORPE.
15th Conn. Infantry.
(Promoted to Capt. Co. K, 29th Colored Infantry.)

More than one thousand rations were issued in neat boxes, the gift of Joseph Pierpont, grocer. Hot coffee and fruit of all kinds rounded up the collation to the satisfaction of everybody.

REGIMENTAL PARADE

The days exercises closed with regimental parade and retreat by the Second Infantry. This spectacle was new to many of the country people and was beautifully carried out.

---

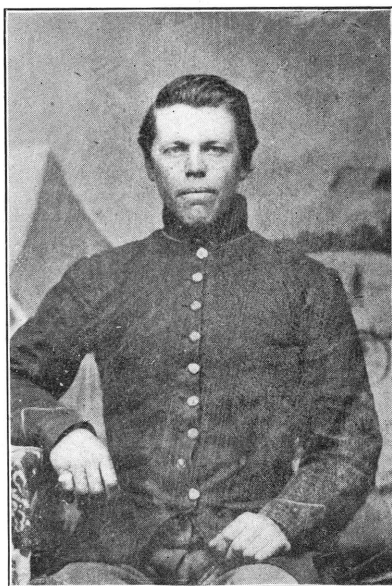

Thus closed an eventful day. The veterans extend their thanks to all who labored for its success, for a success it assuredly was.
